

Built for Archives, Not Algorithms.

Private streaming archives that preserve what matters for families, organizations, churches, teams, and communities.

COMPANY OVERVIEW

ClosedCast is a private streaming archive designed to help families, churches, organizations, teams, and communities preserve meaningful video collections and keep them accessible over time.

Unlike platforms built around algorithms, advertising, engagement metrics, and endless discovery, ClosedCast is built around continuity, stewardship, and long-term accessibility.

The goal is simple: Keep important stories alive.

THE ARCHIVE PROBLEM

Most organizations do not lose important videos overnight. They lose them gradually.

Important videos become scattered across hard drives, cloud folders, devices, and forgotten accounts. ClosedCast exists to keep important stories accessible and easy to revisit.

THIS IS NOT SOCIAL MEDIA

Social platforms were built to help people discover something new. ClosedCast was built to help people return to what matters. As platforms become increasingly crowded with recommendations, trends, and endless content, meaningful recordings become harder to revisit and easier to forget.

WHAT CLOSEDCAST PROVIDES

Private Streaming Archive
A secure streaming experience designed for long-term preservation.

Organized Collections
Videos grouped into meaningful categories and collections.

TV-Friendly Viewing
Available on Roku and the web for easy viewing on the biggest screen in the house.

Controlled Access
Private by default with access managed by archive owners.

Long-Term Accessibility
Designed to help communities maintain continuity across generations.

FOUNDER PERSPECTIVE

"I didn't start ClosedCast because I wanted another video platform. I started it because I realized how easy it is to lose access to the moments that matter most.

When my daughter entered her senior year of high school, finding family videos turned into a search across decades of hard drives, discs, old computers, and forgotten technology. Around the same time, a serious family health challenge reminded me how important those memories really are.

ClosedCast is the product I wish my family had years ago—a place where important stories remain accessible, organized, and easy to revisit for generations."
